

Beck Indicted For Tax Evasion

Charge Son, Four Others Of Conspiracy

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A federal grand jury Wednesday for the second time accused Dave Beck of income tax evasion. It also charged that his son and four others conspired with him to conceal his true income as Teamsters Union president.

The jury of 16 men and 5 women reported to U.S. Judge John C. Bowen at the end of a 4½-week investigation with a seven-count indictment in which Beck was accused of evading $184,000 in taxes in the years 1951-53.

Named with Beck were his son, Dave Jr.; Fred Verschueren, an auditor for the International Teamsters Union; Nathan Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant; Shefferman's son, Sheldon; and Norman Gessert, a Teamsters Union organizer and a cousin of Mrs. Beck Sr.

1951-53 Taxes
The jury accused each of conspiring to conceal Beck's taxable income which the jury said was $420,000 for the years 1951-53 but was reported as $165,665.

On May 2 the same grand jury accused the union leader of evading $56,000 in taxes in 1950.

Warrant For Arrest
Judge Bowen issued a bench warrant for the arrest of each defendant. He raised the bail for Beck Sr. from $5,000, set after his May indictment, to $25,000 and fixed bail for the others at $5,000. Sept. 12 was set for the arraignment.

The maximum penalty for income tax evasion and for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $20,000 fine on each count.

Climax To Developments
The grand jury action climaxed a series of legal and other developments involving Beck since the latter's appearance before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee last spring.

Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment repeatedly when questioned about his financial affairs.

The federal grand jury was impaneled here after Beck's return to his Seattle home from the hearing and the first indictment was returned in May. Later a King County — Seattle — special grand jury indicted Beck and his son on grand larceny charges, accusing them of selling union-owned automobiles and pocketing the money.

Ike Signs Bill To Benefit Small Wheat Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed Wednesday a bill that will permit farmers to grow up to 30 acres of wheat without penalty under control programs if the grain is used on the farm for food, livestock feed or seed.

Existing regulations and laws permit small wheat producers to grow up to 15 acres of wheat, or 200 bushels, whichever is larger, without penalty.

Farmers who elect to use this new feature will not be eligible to vote in referendum among wheat producers on future control programs. They also are ineligible for government wheat price supports but can participate in the soil bank programs if they abide with regulations.

CAST THEIR VOTE—Democratic nominee William Proxmire and his wife leave the polls in Blooming Grove, Wis., a suburb of Madison, after casting their vote in a special election to fill the vacant U. ## Proxmire Arrives In Capital To Take Seat In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sen.-Elect William E. Proxmire flew here Wednesday night saying his smashing upset victory in Wisconsin is a repudiation of the Eisenhower administration and a forecast of more Democratic sweeps.

Proxmire was greeted at National Airport by a group of party leaders headed by Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

There was only one flaw in the arrival festivities: Johnson broke the news that plans for swearing in the fast-moving Proxmire Wednesday night had fallen through. Johnson said Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California withheld the necessary consent until he could actually have in hand an official telegram certifying Proxmire's election. Johnson said, Gov. Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin advised him such a telegram could not be sent until Thursday.

Investigate Riot In Reformatory
BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP) — A special investigator moved into the Colorado Reformatory Wednesday night to probe a bloody riot which saw one rioter slain, five others wounded and three guards savagely mauled.

Gov. Steve McNichols, who made a personal inspection of the south-central Colorado institution for offenders under 19 years of age, hired former Denver detective Mark O'Brien to ferret out reasons behind the 45-minute uprising Tuesday night in the 67-year-old cell block C.

The governor said he did not know what started the revolt. The riot started as 125 inmates were being led back to maximum security quarters after dinner and a recreation period in the yard.

Warden James S. Thomas and 60 guards and other officials quelled the violence with bullets and tear gas.

Briton Safely Demonstrates Ejection Device From U.S. Jet

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — A grinning little Englishman blasted himself free of an American jet plane on takeoff Wednesday and lived to drink a toast to "the greatest thing in aviation safety since the parachute."

Secretary of the Navy Gates proposed the toast after watching Royal Air Force Flying Officer Sidney Hughes of Newcastle-on-Tyne perform the first live American test of a British invention to cut the heavy loss of life among pilots whose jet craft fall at low altitudes.

The successful demonstration at this naval station clinched Navy acceptance of the American-modified version of the British Martin Baker ejection seat.

James Martin, inventor of the seat, told reporters that the 29th United States would be the 29th country to use the device. He said Wednesday's was only the second ground-level test using a live "ejectee."

What the Navy secretary and high Pentagon officials witnessed today took less than five seconds from the moment a Grumman test pilot gunned a two-place F9F Panther off the end of the runway.

At the split second of takeoff, Hughes pulled a device that set off an automatic chain reaction of events which produced three separate explosions, billowed forth two small and one large parachute, catapulted the 140-pound Englishman 80 feet in the air and landed him feet foremost.

While Hughes was going through these gyrations, the plane he had been riding sped under and past him out over the waters of Chesapeake Bay.

A Navy doctor and hospital corpsmen rushed from a waiting ambulance up to Hughes. He waved them off, saying: "I got a fairly good bang. I'm a bit winded."

The Navy calculated that he had survived in his explosive ejection, a force equivalent to 20 times the pull of gravity.

Judy's Friend Knew Someone 'Who Might Want To Harm Her'

CHICAGO (AP) — Slain Judith Mae Andersen's best friend said Wednesday while undergoing a lie detector test that she knew someone "who might want to harm Judy."

This was revealed by Chief of Detectives Patrick Deeley as Judy's friend, Elena Abbato, 15, and four of her brothers volunteered for the tests to "clear the family of any suspicion."

The two girls spent several hours together the night Judith Mae disappeared.

Elena and three of the brothers were cleared by police after undergoing the lie detector examinations. The fourth brother, Joe, gave an "inconclusive" reaction, police said, and will be questioned again Thursday. Joseph, they said, was not considered a real suspect in the case despite the "inconclusive" finding.

Deeley would not identify any person named by the Abbato family as wanting to harm 15-year-old Judith Mae, whose body was found shot and hacked to pieces last week.

The chief of detectives told reporters Elena named "more than one person." He wouldn't say how many.

Earlier, seven members of the Abbato family appeared voluntarily at the detective bureau and talked with officials about four hours. Deeley said they had given important information and the conversations had brought up several names that were new in the case.

Deeley said he was withholding details until checks had been made.

"All agreed to take lie tests to substantiate their statements that they had nothing to do with the disappearance, and a subsequent murder of Judith Mae Andersen," Deeley told newsmen.

Deeley said the questioning at the bureau disclosed no discrepancies in the previously told story of Elena Abbato. Elena, 15, had related that she and Judy had watched television in the Abbato home on the night of Aug. 16 and that Judy left to walk to her own home about 11 p.m.

At mid-afternoon five of the Abbato family went to the offices of a firm of private criminologists which makes lie tests for law enforcement agencies.

John Abbato, 25, took the lie test first. He was followed by his sister, Elena, and brother, Nicholas, 18. They were pronounced cleared.

Two other Abbato brothers, Leo, 30, and Joseph 28, next took tests.

Those five, plus their mother, May, and another of their brothers, Robert, 14, had talked with police earlier at the detective bureau.

94 Missing In Sinking Of Argentine Boat

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — An official announcement Wednesday said 94 persons are missing in the sinking of an Argentine river steamer following a collision with an American freighter Tuesday night.

The Argentine government said in an announcement "there is a possibility that some of those missing may have reached the coast by swimming or were rescued by small boats which have not yet reached a port."

The missing were all aboard the 3,754-ton Argentine vessel Ciudad D. Buenos Aires.

The steamer and the 7,890-ton freighter Mormacsurf collided in rain and fog in the Uruguay River shortly before midnight.

The American freighter was damaged in the crash but was able to continue after aiding in rescue operations.

The Ciudad De Buenos Aires carried about 220 passengers and crewmen.

Maritime officials here had announced earlier there were no fatalities.

First survivors to reach Buenos Aires said they thought some persons aboard the Argentine steamer were lost in the panic as the vessel swiftly sank. They said some passengers jumped into the river as there was no time to lower lifeboats.

In New York, Moore-McCormack Lines, owner of the Mormacsurf, said it received a message from the freighter's master stating that all passengers and crew of the Argentine steamer were rescued.

Military Orders 7 Million Doses Of Flu Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military services were disclosed Wednesday to have ordered more than seven million doses of the new Asian flu vaccine.

The Public Health Service said the services plan to give two shots per person as compared with the single dose planned for civilians.

A spokesman for the Army's surgeon general's office explained that the military forces are "responsible for operational readiness." He said they constitute a group which "cannot accept the amount of disability that the civilian population can."

The military report was made at a meeting of state health officers, called together to discuss steps to take against the Asian flu epidemic which doctors have said might hit the country this fall or winter.

The health officers approved a resolution saying: "There is no practical advantage in the closing of schools or the curtailment of public gatherings as it relates to the spread of this disease."

But, the resolution added that in some cases "there may be administrative reasons for closing schools due to the illness of teachers, bus drivers, large absentee rates, etc."

The disease, while seldom serious, has a high "attack rate." In another resolution, the health officers asked the U. S. Public Health Service to recommend to civilian physicians a system of priorities for inoculation with the vaccine.

First would be doctors and others who care for the sick. Second would be those who perform community services essential to health.

The PHS reported the release of 562,610 more doses of the vaccine Tuesday, and said the total 1957 supply might reach 85 million.

Attack On Disarm Plans Poses World Threat: Ike

West To Give Full-Disarm Program

LONDON (AP) — The four Western Powers served notice Wednesday night that they will complete outlining their full program in a longshot hope of saving the floundering London disarmament party.

The 5-month-long U.N. Disarmament subcommittee talks seemed to be near the breaking point under the weight of Soviet attacks on motives and policies of the West, particularly those of the United States.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin broke in Wednesday on Harold Stassen, chief U. S. delegate, to emphasize that the West's idea for a two-year suspension of nuclear tests under certain conditions cannot be negotiated.

"We do not regard this proposal as forming a basis for an agreement," Zorin announced.

Zorin Tuesday also rejected the West's latest version of President Eisenhower's proposal for open sky inspection over North America, Europe and Russia as a means of guarding against surprise attack.

The West's real purpose, Zorin declared, is to spy on Soviet secrets.

3 Gunmen Stage Mail Car Holdup In Western Style

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (AP) — Three masked gunmen dressed as railroad workers staged an old-fashioned Wild West train robbery Wednesday aboard a Canadian National Railway mail car.

Postal authorities were unable to estimate the size of the loot immediately. But they said the train could have been carrying large bags of money regularly shipped from Toronto banks for payrolls in the southern Ontario city of London.

The bandits apparently boarded the train unnoticed at Woodstock before dawn. During the seven-mile run to Ingersoll they entered the mail car, flashing their pistols. Then the gunmen locked five members of the crew in a washroom and two others in a closet.

They asked the eighth man: "Where's the money?" He replied that he was not familiar with registered mail and was locked in the closet, too.

Then they ransacked the car and jumped from the train while it stopped for two minutes at Ingersoll. The train continued until the crew broke free just outside of Ingersoll and pulled the emergency cord.

Ingersoll police were not told of the holdup until two hours after it happened and did not set up any roadblocks. They said they had no idea how the gunmen got out of town—even whether they had left town at all.

George A. Shea, the railroad's police director, said the holdup may have been an inside job.

Shea said: "It appears the left door of the mail car was left unlocked."

RED JETS ARE COMING—The U.S. government has approved a Soviet request to land two Russian TU-104 twin-jet airliners in New York in September. The first one, carrying members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, is expected the week of Sept. 3. The TU-104, one of which is pictured above at Le Bourget Field, Paris, France, in May 1957, travels at about 500 m.p.h. at altitudes up to 35,000 feet. The sleek, 70-passenger airliners will be the first Russian civilian planes ever to land in the United States.

Term Blindfolded Widow's Death 'Car Suicide'
CHICAGO (AP) — An unemployed widow was killed Wednesday, police said, after she blindfolded herself with a scarf, smashed her car into a series of obstructions and then fell under the wheels of her own vehicle.

The coroner's office listed the death of Mrs. Kathryn Dawson, 52, of suburban Homewood as "automobile suicide."

A note found in the woman's wallet listed a funeral home where her body was to be taken, police said. The note added: "They are authorized to cremate me. No one else will be paid the cost of my passing away."

Mrs. Dawson and policeman Price Virgin were drinking in a South Side tavern before she drove her car out of a parking lot. Virgin said she smashed into a sign, backed away, crossed Cicero Avenue and headed south in the north-bound lane. She piled into a stop sign, backed up to the car and zig-zagged into a gas station where she rammed an outdoor grease rack.

Mrs. Dawson was thrown from her auto when it struck the grease rack, and she was run over by a rear wheel of her car, Virgin said. She was dead on arrival at a hospital. The officer said she had a babushka wrapped around her eyes as a blindfold.

Says Soviet Rejected Ban Without Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday said Russia's attack on the West's disarmament plan threatens mankind with a future indefinitely darkened by the danger of nuclear destruction.

Matching the strong language used by Soviet disarmament negotiator Valerian Zorin in London Tuesday, Eisenhower said it would be tragic if Russia impetuously rejected the Western proposals.

He added in a statement: "Such a Soviet attitude would condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger."

The President said the American, British, French and Canadian negotiators had not even completed laying all their disarmament cards on the table when Zorin delivered his 90-minute speech.

'Would Be Tragic'
"It would be tragic," Eisenhower said, "if these important first-stage proposals, fraught with such significance for the peace of the world, were rejected by the Soviet Union even before they could have been seriously studied and before the Western presentation is complete."

The President authorized Harold E. Stassen, the American negotiator in London, to fly home this weekend.

The White House announced shortly after Eisenhower's statement was issued that Stassen would complete presentation of the Western disarmament proposal at Thursday's session.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the full text would be made public simultaneously.

Conferees Agree On $3,435,810,000 Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate House Conference Committee agreed Wednesday on a compromise $3,435,810,000 foreign aid money bill, $1,004,400,000 less than President Eisenhower originally asked.

Assuming the Senate and House go along with the compromise, however, Eisenhower is expected to accept it too.

The compromise just about splits the difference between the $3,692,710,000 Senate bill and the House measure providing $3,191,810,000, or $500,900,000 less.

Agreement came after two meetings of the committee. The first meeting Wednesday morning broke up in what Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) described as a huff. Dirksen said this happened when one of the House conferees announced his group would not vote any compromise carrying more than a 250-million-dollar boost over the House bill.

However, a little later the afternoon meeting was arranged and it proved successful. The compromise is yet to be acted on finally by the House and Senate.

The compromise gives the administration $1,340,000,000 in new funds for military assistance, compared with the $1,250,000,000 voted by the House and the $475,000,000 approved by the Senate. Since both houses voted a $358,800,000 carry-over for this fund, there will be a total of $1,878,800,000 available for military aid this year.

FARM ASSETS, DEBTS BOTH HIT NEW HIGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm assets rose to a record value of $176,800,000 on last Jan. 1, but farm debt also touched a new high, the federal reserve system said Wednesday.

The federal reserve's annual balance sheet of agriculture said the value of assets increased by $600,000,000, or about 3 per cent, to a record $19,500,000,000.

The equity of farm operators—assets minus debt—also moved to increase of $8,000,000,000 during last year.

The strength of the market for farm real estate was largely responsible, the federal reserve said, for raising total farm assets, and the value of owners' equities to new record levels after 1951.

Farm assets, in the federal reserve survey, include the financial assets, automobiles and household furnishings and equipment owned by farmers as well as all the assets used directly in farm production, such as farm land and buildings, livestock, tractors, motor trucks, farm machinery and inventories of crops.

Editorial Comment

The President And Politics

President Eisenhower twice won overwhelming election to the White House partly because he is "not a politician."

Obviously millions of Americans were fed up with the grubby politics they were accustomed to seeing. They wanted a man above the battle and the turmoil, and they got him.

Mr. Eisenhower not only was inexperienced in politics, but he saw himself as placed above the sordid struggle. Moreover, all indications were that he brought to his task an active dislike for political maneuvering.

Since countless voters pretty well understood all this and voted for him because of it, most of them are not likely to complain that in his nearly five years in office Ike has not behaved like a politician.

Yet, whatever the advantages in this pattern of behavior, there would seem to be disadvantages as well. For most historians and political scientists agree that a president to be most effective must be a mixture of an executive and a politician.

Political power is the club any president can hold over his fellow party men in Congress. If he doesn't want to use a club but to persuade instead, sharp political understanding is the best lubricant.

Mr. Eisenhower for the most part has not chosen to develop that understanding, and he has generally been reluctant to wield the club. Consequently, Congress often has defied him over the years.

Now the problem is aggravated by the fact that under the two-term limit in the amended Constitution he cannot run again, and thus the lawmakers foresee the end of his power and influence a few years hence.

The President says he is disappointed greatly in the record of the Congress in 1957. Much of his program has either been shelved, watered down, or beaten.

But except for heavy pressures at times on behalf of his foreign aid and defense spending proposals, he has not usually resorted to the political devices which might have helped produce an opposite result.

Possibly only the fine analysis of the detached historian, intensely familiar with the inner workings of this Congress and this administration, can determine where the responsibility for this situation should fall.

But past history suggests that the president who is not a politician has more trouble than others in getting Congress to do his bidding. In staying above the battle, he finds that most of the time he cannot command the combatants who in theory owe allegiance to him.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There were only two men at the bar — one fat and one quite slender — and they were strangers.

However, the fat man introduced himself, bought a couple of drinks, and soon he and the slender man were having as much fun as two microbes in a bowl of pudding.

They were, that is, until the slender man took the fat man by the lapels and said:

"You know, Al, I know it's none of my business, and I hate to poke my nose in another man's life, but why don't you do something about all that extra weight you're carrying? Don't you realize that asking all that fat around will bring you to an early grave?"

The fat man's booming laugh faded. A frown spread over his face as he reached into his pocket and handed his new friend a check addressed "To whom it may concern."

The slender man, a bit bewildered, opened the letter and read the following:

"Dear friend,

"Until now you have been a nice guy. But your last remark clearly shows you are one of those millions of unhappy people who try to reform their fellow man and make them a prisoner of their own particular brand of misery."

"You think that if I looked as nice as you do that I'd be happier. Please listen to my story:

"At birth I weighed 154 pounds. I came from a fat family. My father (God rest his soul) weighed 285 pounds when he died 18 after outliving three bean-shaped wives, each of whom assured him he was digging his grave with his teeth."

"As a boy I was too fat to fight, so as a result, I never got my teeth knocked out and today I am all my own chomper. In college I was too fat to play football, so I never got any broken ones."

"After college I weighed 250 pounds and was so fat that no man wanted to marry me. This made me so concentrate on my so-called food sauces — and by the time I was 35 I had saved $50,000 in cash.

"Then my dear uncle, who weighed 315 pounds, died at 79 (God rest his soul) and left me another $50,000. That gave me $100,000 and I sank it all into a firm that manufactured a new artificial pill. I was named president and the company prospered from the start."

"But the more money we made the more I ate, so that my weight climbed to 312 pounds. Other members of the firm suggested I either go on a diet or sell out to them."

"I wouldn't change my eating habits, so I sold out — for $3,000,000. That was five years ago. By careful investment I doubled my money. A few months ago I put my six million dollars in four per cent municipal bonds. They give me an income of $240,000 a year — tax free."

"I now eat from four to seven meals a day, depending on how I feel, and I weigh 345 pounds and feel fine. I carry $5,000 in my wallet at all times, just to be sure I won't ever have to go hungry. I sleep until noon every day, and I can go anywhere or do anything I please."

"I have 40 pairs of shoes, 50 suits, 150 shirts and 300 neckties. Perhaps, of course, I have missed something in life by remaining fat. On the other hand, I have a 10-room air conditioned penthouse on Park Avenue, three motor cars and five servants."

"Well, friend, that brings my story up to date. And now, skinny, I am quite willing to hear your tale of joy. Please go right ahead and tell me how much more you've gotten out of life by counting your calories."

The slender man, his face red, folded up the letter, handed it back to the fat man, and silently walked out of the bar."

DOGGED THIEF — A report to the sheriff from Anthony Malavenda, 16, said a thief cut into the trunk of his automobile to steal the hub caps. He had locked them in the trunk to prevent their theft from the wheels.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If Tab Hunter can do it, so can Anthony Perkins.

Sing, that is, I guess you call it singing, though some unkind critics of Hunter's vocal efforts have indicated otherwise. Not so his fans. They hustled out to buy a million and half of his platters of "Young Love."

Now it's young Perkins, another idol of the mail-shop set, who's coming out with a disc called "My First Romance."

The lad has a nice boyish style and a voice that is well pitched and true, even if it won't give Mario Lanza proups for concern.

"The critics haven't been so kind," Tony admitted. "One reviewer questioned whether I was the son of the record company president."

Such barbs don't daunt him. Tony had the last laugh when RCA-Victor signed him to a long-term contract that could bring in much loot. If he succeeds, it will be a triumph of persistence.

Except for a brief course that only confused him, Tony has had no vocal training. He has learned technique by singing along with records he played at home.

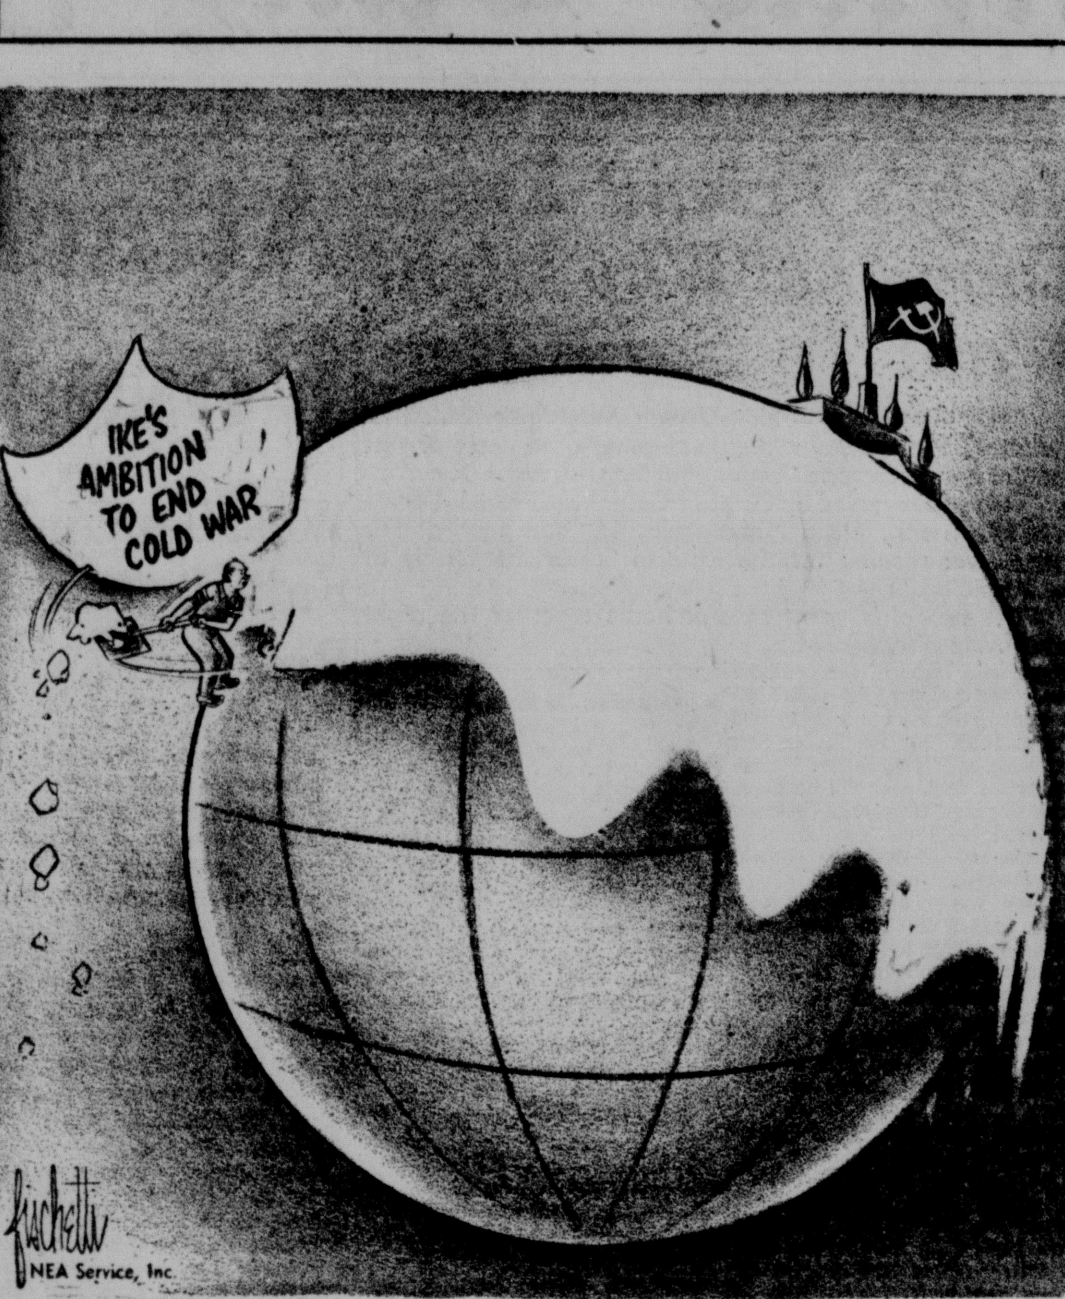

Tony is going back to New York where he got his start — as John Kerr's replacement in "Tea and Sympathy." He returns as a star, appearing in the dramatization of Thomas Wolfe's modern classic, "Look Homeward, Angel."

If the play succeeds, he could be stuck in it for at least eight months. How can he afford to take such time out from his thriving film career?

"Because I'll have four un-released pictures," he explained. "The last one should be coming out about the time I'm through with the play. Then I'll come back here and start making pictures again."

Potato chip sales totaled 353 million dollars in the United States last year.

Air-to-Air Nuclear Rocket Tops Varied A-Bomb Fare

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The live atomic bomb test show they've been putting on out in Nevada for the past several months has been extraordinary.

They've exploded big A-bombs, medium-sized ones and peewees. They've touched 'em off under the ground, on the ground, on steel towers, from balloons and in air-to-air rockets.

Soldiers, Marines, civil defense workers and visiting firemen have squatted in foxholes and trenches at various distances from the big booms, suffering less damage than they probably experienced at the gambling parlors in nearby Las Vegas.

Six Air Force officers stood idly by under one blast without being injured from the blast or fallout.

Atomic weapons experts in the Pentagon say that the real significance of this series of tests is the demonstration of the versatility of A-weapons which the U. S. now has in its arsenal.

U. S. Atomic Energy Commission experts like to think that the series reveals just how far the country's nuclear scientists have progressed in the control and handling of atomic detonations.

With The Exception of the one device which failed to explode because of a power failure in the trigger mechanism, the scientists have been able to predict the yields and effects of each blast more accurately than ever before. This is one of the best measures of the scientists' atomic know-how.

From this dazzling array of atomic accomplishments, however, U. S. experts concerned with disarmament and world opinion select the atomic shot of July 19 as the most significant of the tests.

This was the blast which was packaged in a rocket and fired from a fighter plane at a point in space. Six officers stood beneath the boom.

Just before this test Lt. Gen. J. H. Atkinson, commander of the Air Defense Command, made this comment:

"This Firing will signal the first time in aviation history that a live nuclear weapon was designed solely for use in air defense. This test firing is designed to collect certain important weapons' effects data on a known warhead at a stated distance. This test will also supply information for integration of future weapons into an effective air defense system."

This test's bigger importance, some experts claim, is the fact that it was the first A-bomb detonated by the U. S. which has sole and exclusive use as a defensive weapon against an attacking enemy.

Some of the tactical atomic weapons which the Army has tested would seem to be primarily defensive in character. But one of the great fears of Europeans, for example, is that even a ground atomic war on that continent would find cities wrecked and civilians killed by U. S. tactical atomic weapons.

Fear Of The propaganda reverberations was one of the reasons tactical atomic weapons were not used during the Korean fighting.

No such propaganda could possibly result from the use of an air-to-air rocket with nuclear warhead. Its only use is to shoot enemy bombers or fighters out of the sky.

And as the Las Vegas test demonstrated so dramatically, even persons standing directly under such a blast would not be hurt by blast or fallout. There is an additional, secret capability of such a rocket which will cause it to detonate harmlessly in the air in case it misses the target.

The latter possibility isn't likely because all such a rocket has to do is explode near a bomber, or formation, to do extensive damage.

Gen. Atkinson adds: "The introduction of atomic weapons in our air defense means that we can now create the same type of destruction on an attacking force as that which it may be trying to inflict on our country."

We want our people to understand that we are using such weapons only to prevent the enemy from dropping similar weapons on us. The very fact that we now have atomic capability in our air defense is a forceful deterrent to war."

It is believed that this reasoning will be amplified in America's propaganda efforts around the world with potent force.

God has given us peace without doing the impossible. We should do well to thank God for our blessings, instead of blaming Him for our failures.

Occasionally we think that our material world will crumble and fall apart if some specific incident does not take place by a designated moment. After trying every human endeavor to make the event occur with no result we begin to pray. We hope for a supernatural miracle.

After the time of disaster has passed we find that our little world is still revolving. Something has happened which we had not desired, yet we are still alive and often we find ourselves quite happy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most powerful single feature in the civil rights bill—expected to be passed soon by Congress—was one which received little attention and caused almost no fighting.

It's the broad authority of a federal judge to force compliance with his orders under civil contempt proceedings. Most of the attention and fighting were concentrated on what he could do under criminal contempt.

But it's this writer's guess that criminal contempt will be used rarely in comparison with the times judges will rely on their civil contempt powers to force compliance with their orders in voting rights cases.

This is an example of what a judge could do to a man accused—in a voting rights case—of civil contempt of court for not carrying out a court order.

Suppose a judge in a Southern state orders Registrar Jones to let a Negro named Smith register to vote. The deadline for voting comes near and Jones hasn't complied. Then the judge:

1. Could try Jones—by himself and without a jury trial—for civil contempt.

2. He could slap Jones in jail without any fixed sentence. Jones could be jailed until he sends word to the judge he will comply.

3. He could fine up to any amount—there's no limit—to force his compliance. If Jones complied, the judge could then remit the fine.

4. He could fine Jones day by day, for every day he does not comply.

5. He could award damages to Smith. This would probably come out of the fine imposed on Jones. But in this case—once the damages were awarded—Jones wouldn't get his money back even if he complied.

6. He could ask Jones to file a large bond to insure his compliance. For example, he could set the bond at $50,000. If Jones got a company or an individual to put up the bond, the company or individual would be pressuring him to comply.

The reason is simple: If Jones didn't comply, the bond would be forfeited.

7. He could order a United States marshal to register Smith if Jones didn't comply by registering the man himself.

8. Or he could order Smith to go ahead and vote without being registered. In this case, no doubt, Smith's vote might not be counted.

But most Southern states, like other states, have permanent registration.

So if Registrar Jones were from one of them—and disobeyed a court order to register Smith—under civil contempt proceedings he might have to stay in jail a long time.

It's possible now Southern states will change their laws to avoid such a situation by providing for a comparatively short registration period. That's a guess.

But they changed their school laws after the Supreme Court in 1954 ordered an end to racial segregation in public schools.

Yet, Southerners in Congress raised comparatively little fuss about the powers of a federal judge under civil contempt proceedings. In fact, they left his powers untouched, including his power to try and jail a man without a jury.

They made their big pitch on criminal contempt. A man is charged with criminal contempt after it is too late to comply with a court order. For instance:

Suppose ones steadfastly refused to register Smith and election day came and passed with Smith unable to vote. Traditionally, in criminal contempt cases, just as in civil contempt, a judge could try and jail a man without a jury.

Southerners insisted that in criminal contempt cases there must be a jury. The Senate wrote that into the bill. But the House Republicans wouldn't buy it. So the bill was stalled in the House for weeks.

Now a compromise has been agreed to by House and Senate leaders and, when the bill is passed, this is what it will say:

A judge can still try an individual for criminal contempt without a jury provided the penalty he imposes does not exceed 45 days in jail or a $300 fine.

If he wants a man to be punished more than that, the judge must let the case be tried by a jury. If found guilty of criminal contempt by a jury, the maximum penalty would be six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Improvements Noted in Hemorrhoid Treatment

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A recurring question submitted to this column concerns hemorrhoids, or piles. These are two names for the same thing.

Hemorrhoids, or piles, are enlarged veins which develop at or near the outlet of the rectum. The enlargements often occur in clusters and tend to appear and disappear.

They may come on gradually or suddenly. A sudden strain, such as lifting a heavy object, or a bad attack of constipation often brings the trouble to the patient's attention for the first time.

Blockage of the flow of blood through the hemorrhoidal veins favors the development of piles. Many factors are involved: long continued severe coughing, childbirth, the muscular strain of heavy lifting, athletics or constipation.

OFTEN the first symptom of piles is the presence of blood on the outside of the bowel waste without pain. Another common early sign is itching. Bleeding is usually slight at first, but the amount of blood lost can eventually cause anemia.

Ulcers, or cracks in the skin or mucous membrane around the rectum often develop in a continued case. Such complications are usually painful.

At times clots can form inside the enlarged veins. These are likely to arise suddenly, together with severe pain. The clots are usually absorbed in a week or so, though the clot can be removed by surgery.

A letter from D. asks not only for information about hemorrhoids in general, but also whether there is any cure besides surgery and whether heat should be used.

In mild cases there is often considerable improvement without surgery and sometimes surgery is not necessary. When it comes to a cure, however, that is complete relief of severe or consistently bleeding hemorrhoids, there almost certainly is no method which is as satisfactory as surgery. Heat is of little value, though it might possibly relieve the discomfort temporarily.

THE OPERATION can be performed with either local or general anesthesia. There has been some improvement in the methods of treatment and post-operative hemorrhoids, there almost certainly is no method which is as satisfactory as surgery. Heat is of little value, though it might possibly relieve the discomfort temporarily.

Refrigerator Truck Burns; Driver Hurt

PITTSFIELD — A truck load of refrigerated meat turned over eight miles west of Pittsfield at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, caught fire, and was destroyed.

The driver, Richard E. Howard, 24, of Kansas City, Mo., sustained lacerations and bruises. His condition at Illinois hospital was described as fair.

Driving for the Pellham Truck Line, Howard lost control of the tractor-trailer when it skidded on the blacktop surface of the highway. The big outfit burst into flames after rolling off the south side of the highway.

Howard escaped quickly from the cab and was not burned.

A crowd gathered at the scene of the accident and pulled some of the meat from the blazing truck. A number of steaks and roasts from the refrigerated truck will be consumed in Pike county homes, observers reported.

Piper-Hammond Vows Exchanged At Christopher

At 2:00 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 25th, at the Methodist church in Christopher, Ill., Miss Betty Lou Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Hammonds of Christopher, became the bride of Thomas Keith Piper, Jr., of White Hall and Carterville, Ill.

Mr. Piper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Piper of White Hall.

The Rev. John P. Nail performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with baskets of multi-colored gladioli.

The bride was lovely in a white nylon, satin and net tulle length gown, with a portrait neckline. The midriff section of the fitted bodice was pleated white nylon worn over the underskirts of net. Her elbow length mitts matched the embossed nylon of her gown.

She wore a Juliet hat of white satin with rhinestones and a shadow veil attached. Her bridal corsage was a white orchid. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls and white gold wrist watch, gifts of the groom.

Mrs. Doris Hammonds Livesay, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and James Hammonds, a brother of the bride was best man.

Mrs. Livesay's waist length gown was of poudie blue with white lace inserts in the fitted bodice. She wore white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Hammonds chose for her daughter's wedding, a navy blue sheer with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Piper, mother of the groom wore a navy blue Cupion silk dress with pale pink accessories. She wore a corsage of pink tea roses.

After the ceremony, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to St. Louis.

The bride wore a white sheath dress and her orchid corsage.

After Sept. 1st, they will be at home, in their newly furnished apartment at 109 West Monroe, Herrin, Ill.

Mr. Piper graduated from the White Hall High School and is attending Southern Illinois University.

Postal-Sub Station To Reopen Sept. 7th

There are many people in Jacksonville who will be interested to know that the postal sub-station at 215 South Sandy street will again be open for business within a short time.

Every two years bids are accepted for the job of postal clerk in the sub-station. This was done this year early in May. However, Mrs. German, who submitted the lowest bid, was unable to accept the position because of illness.

On July 8 bids were again received and Miss Nora Jordan of 407 W. College Ave. was accepted pending confirmation by the district postal manager in Peoria.

Postmaster Philip Day announced that on September 7 the postal sub-station will reopen at 9 a.m. All the facilities of the East State street post office will again be available, with the exception of foreign postal service. The office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The office will be closed Sundays and holidays.

Mrs. Marie Sauer is the former operator of the sub-station.

The location will be the same as in the past, in the Winkler Heating Co. building at 215 South Sandy.

Lincoln School Cub Pack Eats Watermelon

"All the watermelon you can eat" was the slogan for a gathering Sunday afternoon at the Amos Western farm home near this city when the Cub Scouts of the Lincoln school pack and members of their families held a monthly get-together.

Other special events on the pack calendar during the vacation season were a trip to St. Louis where the boys saw the Cardinals play, and a day at Siloam Springs state park.

Pack officers for the past year were W. R. Bellatti, committee chairman; C. G. Kirchhoeffer, cubmaster; Keith Hopper, assistant cubmaster; Mrs. Earl Rabjohns, secretary; Amos Western, treasurer; David Glossop, advancement; William Allen, liaison, and Robert Quigley, institutional representative.

Den mothers were Mrs. Amos Western, Mrs. Wadsworth Applebee, Mrs. Charles Gutzman, Mrs. Earl Rabjohns and Mrs. Robert Keplinger. Den chiefs were Dennis Strubbe, John Wright, Eddie Hudson, Donnie Jones and Harlan DeGroot.

Ralph Fraser, professor at Illinois College, is the newly-chosen cubmaster. Election of other pack leaders for the coming year will follow.

MUST WORK TOGETHER
MADRID (AP)—A Spanish Navy Ministry spokesman says the U.S. 6th Fleet and all free Mediterranean countries must work more closely together to meet "the increasing menace of Russian influence in the Middle East."

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said at least five Russian warships were known to have passed through the Straits of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean in the past three weeks.

"And who may know about submarines," he added.

Greene Couple Feted On 56th Anniversary

CARROLLTON—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Short, whose 56th wedding anniversary was Sunday, were guests of honor at dinner on that date at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Midkiff. In addition to the celebration of the wedding anniversary, the occasion also marked the birthday of Mr. Short and of his grandson, Dickie Midkiff, who was ten years old.

Short, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Perry C. Short, and Miss Stella Angle, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Angle, were married at high noon in Alton fifty-six years ago at the home of the Rev. William M. Rhoades. They were attended by the late Miss Mabel Herron and the late Clement Wood, who were themselves married three months later.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Short made their home on a farm in the Mt. Gilead vicinity where they lived for 25 years and then moved to this city where they now reside. Short engaged in barbering when he moved to this city and still has his shop on North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Short are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. James Midkiff of this city, and they have two grandsons.

FLYING FUMIGATORS

Making a fast mountain pass: Bump's tiny plane dusts coffee plantation situated at 5,000 feet.

Heading a flight of fellow crop-dusters, David Bump of Springville, N. Y., leads group over Andes as they set out to spray coffee plantation.

They Swoop to Conquer Blight In Vast Colombia Plantations

"WATCH MY DUST" could be the slogan of David Bump, a 31-year-old native of Springville, N. Y., who is currently making his living as a professional "crop duster" in Colombia's agricultural areas.

The bush pilot of the Andes mountains has for four years been providing thrills for scores of planters and farm workers with his seemingly daredevil, spine tingling flying over terrain that even a good homing pigeon would shun. Bump is one of a group of organized crop dusters in Colombia who are engaged in spraying crops one day and seeding other fields the next.

The "Flying Fumigators" seldom see the horizon as they bank and turn, dive and climb over the rugged country that ranges from farm areas at sea level to occasional crop developments at altitudes of 5,000 feet or higher.

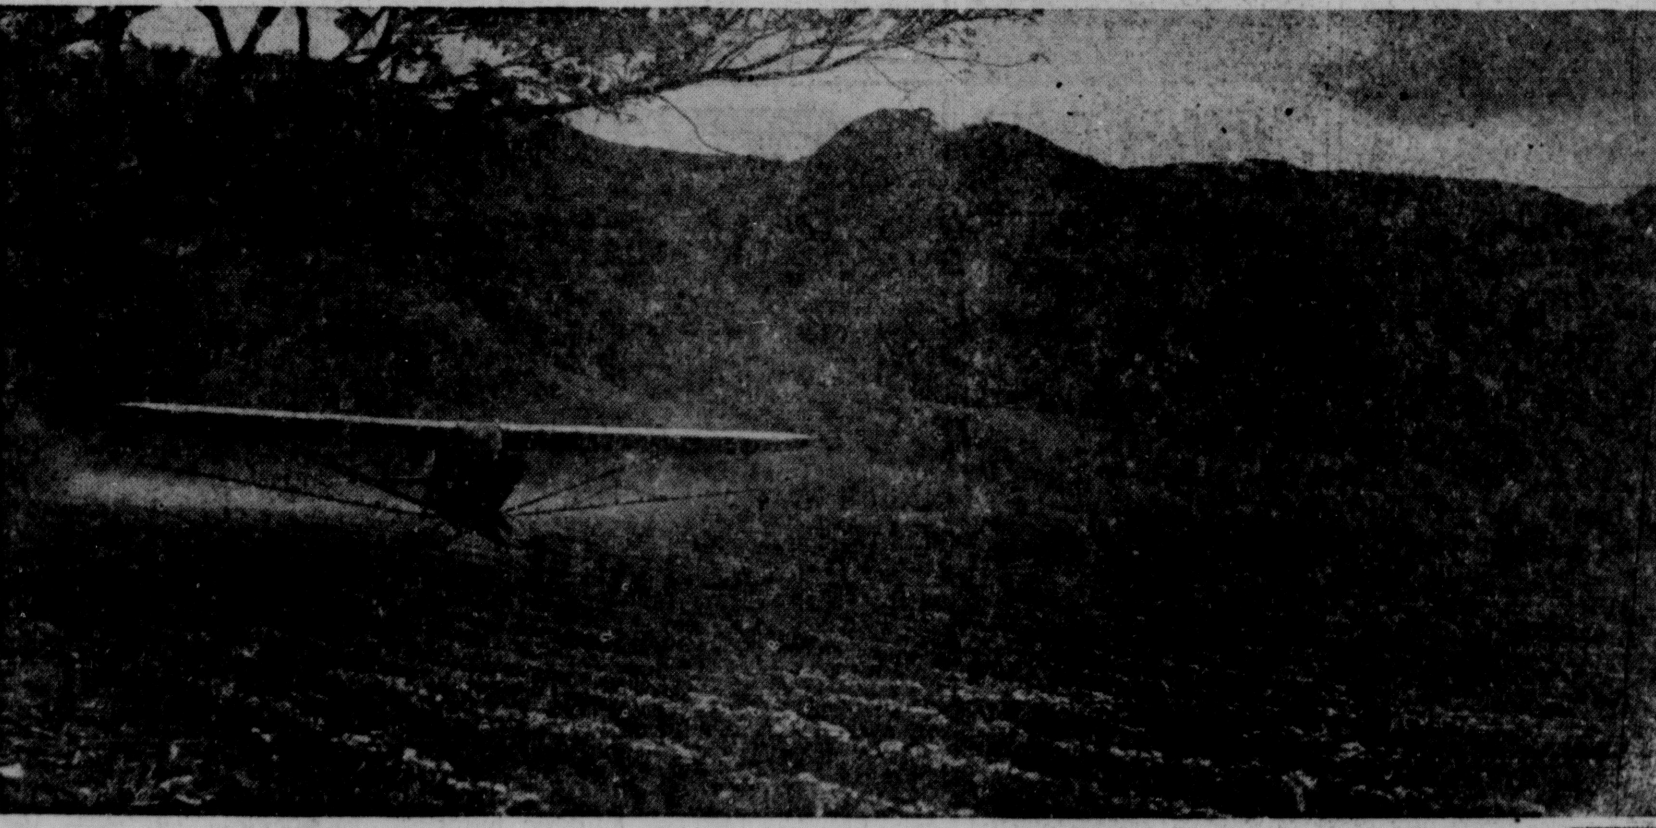

In recent months Bump and his fellow dusters have been busy over Colombia's rice and cotton fields, which are rapidly increasing in abundance. Coffee, the country's most important crop, requires almost constant attention and the crop dusters do most of their flying at the higher altitudes where the choice coffees are grown. Cacao "fin-cas" (plantations), too, get their attention.

The rich, hillside pasture land where Colombia's fine beef and dairy herds graze have vastly improved, largely through the efforts of the crop dusters spraying fumigants on weeds and bugs.

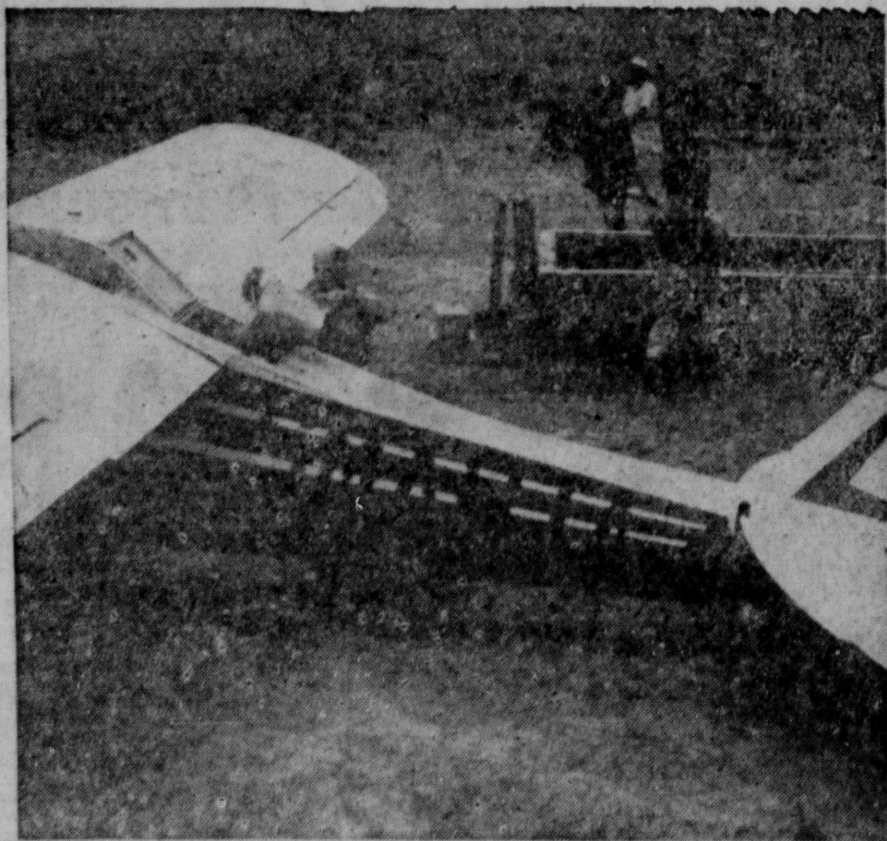

Bump lives with his wife and three children in the thriving industrial city of Cali in Colombia's southwestern area. A graduate of Syracuse university, he considers himself an "agricultural specialist," who, in his light, single-engine plane, is well above the best of them.

LEANING FROM THE COCKPIT of his single-engine, American-built plane, David Bump receives directions for dusting cotton crop from the owner.

Two feet above the ground, Bump barely misses a tree as he puts in a day's work spraying crop. The plane is especially equipped for work.

PAUSE FOR A REFILL: Bump and an assistant (right) fill the tank of their plane with water prior to making another flight over cotton crop.

Preparing for a large-scale crop operation, Bump (bottom, left) goes over planation map with owner. He will lead other planes spraying area. King Features Syndicate.

POSES PROBLEM—Britain's Colonial office was faced with another difficult problem when reports from Georgetown, British Guiana, indicated that Communist Leader Cheddi Jagan, above, was being swept back into power as Chief Minister. Latest reports show that Jagan's People's Progressive party will win 9 of the 14 elected seats in the legislative council. Jagan was deposed as Chief Minister in 1953 for trying to foist communism on the colony, Britain's only possession on the South American continent.

Fifty Members Of Werries Family Meet At Park

The twenty-eighth annual Werries reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 25, at Nichols Park in Jacksonville. Fifty members were present for the 12:30 o'clock dinner.

The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Oscar Nortrup. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Fred Peters. Miss Inez Werries gave the treasurer's report. Entertainment was provided by Janell Fuelling and Mrs. Oscar Nortrup.

Officers elected for 1958 were: president, Carl W. Berghaus; vice president, Adolf Werries; secretary, Mrs. Fred Peters; treasurer, Miss Inez Werries; entertainment committee, Mrs. Oscar Nortrup, Judy Gerghaus, Ruth Ann Fuelling and James Mason.

Next year's reunion will be held at the same location on the fourth Sunday in August.

Mrs. Fred Peters has attended each reunion of the Werries family. The youngest person present was David Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Patterson. Miss Maria Roelf came the greatest distance.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers of San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Bigler and Miss Maria Roelf of Peoria; Mrs. Mildred Ellen, June, Lawrence, Brenda and Glenda, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peters, Diana, Fred, Jr., and Sharon Rose, all of New Berlin; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Russwinkel, Ivan, Wayne and Jimmie, Mr. and Mrs. James Mason, Miss Inez Werries.

Nelson Spahnower, Clarence Russwinkel, Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Werries of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Patterson and David of Beardstown; Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Berghaus and Judy of Chapin; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fuelling, Janell, Lovella, Byron, Ruth Ann, Donald and Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Werries, Charles, Robert and Alvin, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nortrup and Barbara Jean Lamsink, all of Bluffs, and a Diana Hamond of Meredosia.

Cub Pack 107 Has Organization Meeting Friday

Cub Scout pack number 107 of Lafayette School met Friday, August 23, at the school for an organization meeting.

Cubmaster Dr. Beams introduced the new committee chairman, Mr. Fay Daniels, the committee members and den mothers.

Junior Davidmeyer discussed the need for cooperation of cub parents with the cubmasters and den mothers. He also reminded the group that the first den mother round table discussion will be September 9, at 7:30 p.m. at South Jacksonville school.

The next committee meeting is September 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Martin Hutchers.

OES To Honor 50 Year Members In Virginia

VIRGINIA—The Adah Robinson Chapter OES will meet in the Masonic Hall, Wednesday September 4, at 7:30 p.m. They will honor those who have been members fifty years or over.

They are: Mrs. John Bailey, of Springfield; Mrs. Clarence Nocker, of Newman; Miss Nell Springer and Miss Grace Hillig, of Virginia.

Refreshment committee is Mrs. Allee Dour, chairman; members are Alice Lang, Jennie Thompson, Mary Ann White, Mary Ellen Lang and Mary Margaret Blackburn.

FIRE PREVENTION

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — A 17-year-old boy, accused of setting 35 fires including a $90,000 church blaze, complained in Portage County Jail that he had no way to light his cigarettes.

"They won't let me have matches here, you know," he told a reporter.

REALLY TROPICAL—No studio props for the movie troupe making "South Pacific" on the lush Hawaiian island of Kauai. The backdrop is nature's own "set" of tropical vegetation, wild mountains, green turf and blue sea. This scene shows Mitzi Gaynor, as Nellie Forbush, and Navy nurses rehearsing the famous "Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair" number.

AFL - CIO Ethical Practices Group Accuses Hoffe

WASHINGTON, (AP) — James R. Hoffa Tuesday became the target of charges by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. The Midwest chief of the Teamsters Union responded with a vow to continue his campaign for the Teamsters presidency.

The Ethical Practices group did not make public its charges against Hoffa—the first aimed at him by the big labor federation. It said, however, they were based primarily on hearings of the special Senate Rackets Committee.

Hoffa was accused by the Senate committee of conspiring with racketeers to expand his union power, making a questionable loan of $50,000 to a harness track and borrowing $88,500 from Teamster subordinates and employers bargaining with the union.

The Teamster vice president, in Los Angeles for a Teamsters Executive Board meeting said he will continue campaigning to succeed the retiring Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters—the nation's largest labor union.

"I see nothing at this point that would cause me to change my mind," Hoffa said. "I am in the race to the end."

The Ethical Practices Committee has said it will complete its consideration of charges against the Teamsters before that union holds its convention—and election—late next month.

A hearing has been scheduled for Sept. 5-6 at which the charges against Hoffa will be explored.

Double Wedding For One Man

DETROIT (AP) — The double wedding William Williams attended a year ago was his own said Recorder's Court Judge Gerald W. Groat Tuesday in accusing the 25-year-old Negro of marrying two women in less than three hours a year ago July 18.

Judge Groat made the accusation when Williams, a factory worker and part-time art student, appeared to face nonsupport charges brought by his first wife, Shirley, 22.

Williams told Judge Groat he married Shirley, then on the excuse he had to study for an art examination, left her and three hours later married Ruby, 21.

Mrs. Ruby Williams was in the courtroom.

Williams said he has since lived with both wives at different times.

Judge Groat ordered him held to await sentence on nonsupport charges and at the same time told police to recommend a warrant for bigamy.

Ike Denounces Russia's Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today denounced Russia's attack on Western disarmament proposals as "deeply disappointing." He said Soviet rejection would "condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger."

The President counterattacked two Soviet statements claiming that Russia had successfully tested an intercontinental rocket and attacking Western arms proposals.

Eisenhower in a statement of his own called the Soviet claims on missiles developments "boastful" and said the assault on disarmament proposals of the United States and its Allies was couched in "scoffing words."

As far as the United States is concerned, Eisenhower said "We shall never renounce our efforts to find ways and means to save mankind from that danger of atomic conflict and to establish a just and lasting peace."

The White House statement followed an hour's visit to Eisenhower by Secretary of State Dulles.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said the two had discussed Tuesday's brusque Russian response to Western atomic arm control proposals.

At the State Department, it was announced that Harold E. Stassen, the President's disarmament specialist, will come here late this week and confer with Dulles and presumably with the President.

The London disarmament talks will be in recess from Friday to Monday night.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said that Stassen is coming home during this recess primarily to attend the wedding of his son.

The London talks are considered very close to a break-off point.

Julius Holmes, Stassen's deputy, is in Washington, having come here about a week ago to help get the concluding statement of the Western proposals in final shape.

Decatur Pastor Again Named To Head Lutherans

At the second session of the 33rd convention of the Central Illinois Lutheran District, meeting at Concordia Theological Seminary in Springfield, the Rev. Alvin W. Mueller of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Decatur, was re-elected president for another three-year term.

The Rev. Herman F. C. Wetzel of Rock Island was elected first vice president and the Rev. Herman Eitzold of Bloomington was elected second vice president of the Central Illinois District church body.

Dr. Walter A. Baepfer, president of Concordia Theological Seminary in Springfield began his essay on the convention motto, "Forget Not His Benefits." In his essay, Dr. Baepfer spoke of the blessings that have come to the church in the years past. He also outlined the history of the church body in Central Illinois, showing the growth from a few congregations, 50 years ago, to the present size today of 126 congregations, with a membership of over 50,000 members.

Factors will have been drastically affected.

Brothers visit Mrs. Yaap. Dr. Cameron Harmon, retired minister and college president of Mt. Vernon, Ill., accompanied by his wife and daughter, visited with Mrs. Nell Yaap in Jacksonville, Monday afternoon.

Dr. John Harmon, Dean of Boston University, and wife visited with Mrs. Yaap, Tuesday afternoon.

Both of the doctors are brothers of Mrs. Yaap.

Visits with Cousins. Mr. R. R. Myers, Truscott, Texas, spent Sunday night and Monday visiting his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gotschall, 1903 South Diamond street.

THE CANVAS DAGGER by HELEN REILLY

THE STORY: Police discount the statement of Sarah Casement that she was in a room with painter Grant Melville prior to his plunge from his fourth floor studio window to the street below.

THERE was one small sequel that had nothing to do directly with Grant Melville's demise but which was not unnatural under the circumstances. On the night of the same day Melville was killed the Melville house was entered by an intruder via the roof. Mrs. Melville came in from Long Island at shortly after nine o'clock, accompanied by a parlor-maid and a cook. Going up to her bedroom on the top floor the maid surprised a burglar scrambling up the ladder and through the trap door at the top of the stairs. All she saw were his legs disappearing above through the hole in the roof, then the trap door slammed shut.

Examination showed that this trap door had been broken open from the outside. The door had been fastened securely on the inside when the police were in the house in the afternoon, so no one could have escaped by that route then. What had happened was that some opportunist, figuring the house was empty, had forced an entrance intending to do a little job of removing valuables while the coast was clear. The prowler made his escape across a succession of roofs after he was surprised by the housemaid. Nothing had been taken.

It didn't occur to anyone then to check the paint on the canvas propped on the easel in the studio, the canvas on which Melville had been working immediately before he died, to see whether the paint was wet.

The case was not closed for Sarah Casement, far from it. The skepticism, the downright disbelief with which her facts had been received had rocked her back on her heels. It was incredible to her that her word should be doubted. She had no ax to grind, no possible reason for lying. She knew what she had seen in the studio of the red house on Tenth Street. There had been someone there with the painter. Shadows didn't cast themselves out of nothingness, the studio door hadn't opened of itself nor closed by itself when Melville was hurtling through space to the pavement.

Sarah Casement tried to put Grant Melville out of her mind, to forget the terrible sight of that falling body. The attempt was a failure. She thought of the man in the mustard-colored smock morning, noon and night, lunching in offices, dining out, listening to music, in the middle of a conversation with someone, watching a movie.

The dead painter not only interfered with her work, he began to invade her dreams. If only, she thought, she knew more about the man, what he had been like, whether anyone had a reason for killing him, the ghost might be laid. A mystery absorbed and challenged only because it was a mystery; as soon as you knew the answer you lost interest.

Three days after the funeral Sarah called Jim Deniston, who had been a friend of her father's and who happily ran a small and unsuccessful gallery on East Fifty-seventh Street. "Melville," a painter? Jim Deniston sounded blank. "I'll try and find out," Jim called back the next day.

She filed to the phone.

SARAH walked from her apartment to Tenth Street on the following morning. She had abandoned her polo coat, and she wore her navy suit, navy pumps and the blond mink sling she had bought in a moment of madness. According to Jim Deniston, Mrs. Grant Melville's contact with art was in the rarified region where the subject would appear at his or her soft-focus best aided and abetted by aristocratic dogs.

There was something unhappy about that hat.

The enclosure was a newspaper clipping. "Unusual opportunity," it offered, "for person having literary ability and knowledge in watercolor painting to write a biography of her husband done. To write a biography you had to be given access to all the subject's papers, records, the details of his private life. . . . It was a pity she wasn't a writer. We couldn't count six months as a newspaper correspondent when you were 20 or the stuff she did now as writing, could you?"

See you when I get back. Yours, GR 6-35138 for further details and interview."

She turned the card over and read the rest of Peter's message. "Try this on for size. GR 6-35138 is Grant Melville's widow. She wants a biography of the late Grant done. Off to the Bahamas. See you when I get back. Yours, GR 6-35138 for further details and interview."

Sarah smiled, put the flowers in water thoughtfully and carried them into the living room, her mind busy with the clipping. So Mrs. Melville was going to have a biography of her husband done. To write a biography you had to be given access to all the subject's papers, records, the details of his private life. . . . It was a pity she wasn't a writer. We couldn't count six months as a newspaper correspondent when you were 20 or the stuff she did now as writing, could you?

See you when I get back. Yours, GR 6-35138 for further details and interview."

There was something unhappy about that hat.

The general impression was that Melville was a phony but he had been moderately, in fact surprisingly, successful. "I suppose he specialized in flattery. The things people pay for—and he had a fine wife, which probably helped."

Sarah then called Peter Lair, who did a syndicated column. Peter had never heard of Grant Melville. "What's it about, Sarah?" She said vaguely that Melville's name had come up in an argument over portrait painters and she had just wondered.

She heard nothing from Peter for a week, and then on a rainy, drenched evening he sent her flowers and the clipping. Lifting out the bronze and white and gold chrysanthemums that exploded radiance in the shadowy little hall of her apartment, she read the message on the card. "Enclosed is something you may find interesting."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SAN FRANCISCO—(INEA)—Jim Podoley gives early indications of living up to the fine old tradition of small college players making good in the professional ranks.

Starting his first game for the Washington Redskins, an exhibition against the '49ers in San Francisco, Podoley took a pass from Eddie LeBaron good for 52 yards, putting the ball on the four-yard line and setting up Washington's first touchdown. A pitch from Freddie Wyant to Podoley was good for 24, placed the ball on the three and paved the way for another score. When Wyant was trapped on the Redskins' three, later in the going, Podoley came back to meet the play. Wyant hit him with a pass and he zig-zagged to midfield.

Until now, the only time most have heard of Podoley—if ever—was as a decaathlon man.

That's because outside of the school's immediate area no one pays much attention to Central Michigan College football. As remarkable as the six-foot-two, 200-pound Podoley was, he could not grab headlines. A halfback, he had extraordinary performance against such Eastern Illinois State, Illinois State Normal, Northern Illinois State, Southern Illinois, Western Illinois State and Michigan State Normal. But you don't hear of these schools, so Podoley will have to be introduced through play in a National Football League All-Americans habitually cannot make.

Pro coaches and scouts watched young Podoley since his freshman year and not because of his versatility in track or basketball sharpshooting.

He is not as polished as Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals, but possesses nearly as much speed and has the same gangling stride. "He's our guy on punt and kick-off returns," says Washington Coach Joe Kuharich.

Podoley, one-man track team, has done the 100 in 9.6, the 220 in 20.9, the high hurdles in 14.5, the 100 in 23.4 and broad jumped 23 feet 11 1/2 inches.

His football record was more interesting to George Preston Marshall. He scored 54 times from midfield or longer and 10 from 75 yards or more hiking his average touchdown run to a phenomenal 42 yards. He averaged 7.9 yards per carry in 332 tries. He scored four touchdowns against a Great Lakes Naval Training Station team loaded with pros.

A long line of remarkable players have crashed the money ranks from institutions who do not play high pressure football. End Harlon Hill of the Chicago Bears came out of Florence, Ala. State Teachers to be elected by National League players as the player-of-the-year and winner of the first Jim Thorpe trophy presented by NEA Service. Perry Jeter, who beat the Pittsburgh Steelers for the Bears with a 73-yard dash the other evening, performed for California Poly. Garry Glick, standout defensive back, was the Steelers' surprise bonus pick out of Colorado A. and M. Ted Weger, who hugs leather for the Philadelphia Eagles, did not attend college.

Podoley, as far as sports fans are concerned, never went to college, either. But the professionals feel he is well accredited. For some reason, they like muscles over clipings pasted in scrapbooks.

Williams' Homer Gives Sox 1-0 Win Over Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—Ted Williams broke up a tense pitching duel between Boston's Frank Sullivan and Detroit's Jim Bunning Wednesday with a seventh-inning home run that gave the Red Sox a 1-0 triumph over the Tigers.

The Red Sox slugger slammed his 33rd home run leading off in the seventh. It was only the second base hit off Bunning, who was seeking his 16th victory and instead suffered his 7th setback. Bill Klaus got the only other Red Sox hit, a fourth-inning single.

Sullivan scattered 10 Detroit hits and received tremendous support in the field as the Boston infield rattled off three double plays in the late innings.

Dizzy Trout, Age 42, Will Toil On Hill For Orioles

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who quit pitching five years ago to take up baseball broadcasting, has returned to the mound with the Vancouver Mounties and American League fans may be seeing him in action again shortly.

Trout, now 42, signed to pitch for the Mounties, currently trailing the San Francisco Seals in a fight for the Pacific Coast League pennant.

General Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles is expected to call Trout up for relief chores when the PCL race is decided. The Mounties have a working agreement with Baltimore.

Trout had barely arrived in Vancouver when he was called on in the third inning of a game Tuesday night with Los Angeles. Although the Angeles eventually got to Trout for three runs in the ninth and an 8-5 victory, the former Detroit Tiger struck out six in 6 2-3 innings.

One reason the big right-hander has returned to baseball may be to help support his large family. Trout has nine children, the oldest 17, the youngest less than a year.

The 6-foot-2 1/2 hurler contends he was in his prime when he left the mound in 1952.

"I decided I had a better future in radio, but it didn't work out," said Trout, who was hired to broadcast Tiger games in Detroit.

He says he feels he still has enough variety in his pitches to fool the batters. His repertoire includes "three fast balls that do different things," a fork ball, a slider, and "if no one is looking," a spitball. "But I don't use it much."

Podoley, one-man track team, has done the 100 in 9.6, the 220 in 20.9, the high hurdles in 14.5, the 100 in 23.4 and broad jumped 23 feet 11 1/2 inches.

Literberry Church To Be Rebuilt; Talk Plans For Campaign

The Literberry Church of Christ will be rebuilt! That was the word passed around Wednesday in Literberry and Jacksonville, before the ashes of the ruins of the old church building cooled.

Several residents of the Literberry community were reported Wednesday to have pledged $1,000 each, but much more will be needed before a new church can be erected. A building campaign in which all citizens will be invited to help finance a new church will be planned within a short time.

Charge Reckless Homicide In Scholes Death

VIRGINIA — An inquest was conducted Wednesday morning in the circuit courtroom in Virginia by Joe C. Lintner, Cass county coroner, into the death of Franklin Delano Scholes.

The jury, composed of John Albert Sinclair, foreman, Charles Briggs, Lee Reynolds, William Kilby, Clarence Hudson and Allen Durren, returned a verdict as follows: "Franklin Delano Scholes came to his death by injuries received as a result of a collision of automobiles, one of which was owned by him, and the other driven by James B. Mills, said accident occurring Wednesday, August 21, 1937, at a point 1.3 miles east of Bluff Springs, Ill., on U.S. Route 67."

Injuries causing death are believed to be as follows: Compound fracture of left leg; penetrating wound on lower left chest with fracture of ribs; and possible skull fracture behind left ear.

After questioning witnesses, a charge of reckless homicide was filed against James B. Mills, driver of one of the cars involved in the accident. Patrolman Matthews signed the warrant.

Both Mills and another victim of the accident, Harold Shortridge, were taken to the Schmitt Memorial hospital in Beardstown where they are still patients.

Shortridge, a passenger in the Scholes car at the time of the accident, is still listed as being in critical condition. Mills was taken off of the critical list Tuesday.

HOPPER & HAMM

Insurance carried on the old building which was totally destroyed by fire late Tuesday afternoon will not be nearly sufficient to replace it, officials of the congregation said. During the summer of 1936 the sum of $5,000 was spent on improvements to the building.

Paul Johnson, chairman of the board of elders, and John Maul, Sunday school superintendent, announced Wednesday that members of the church will meet at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Literberry school to prepare it as a temporary meeting place.

Rev. Arnold H. Whittier was scheduled to deliver his first sermon as full time pastor in the old church next Sunday morning. Instead, he will address the congregation in the school house.

Rev. Whittier has been pastor of the Literberry and Concord Christian churches two years, but recently accepted the full time pastorate and moved to Literberry. He is instructor in English at the Lincoln Bible Institute at Lincoln, Ill., of which he is a graduate.

The Literberry Church of Christ has a membership of more than 100, and an average Sunday attendance of 90.

Type of construction and many other details in connection with the new church are yet to be worked out. Officials and members will point their efforts to the task, and a number of buildings in other towns will be viewed by Literberry church officials before any action is taken.

Coy Stice is chairman of the board of elders, which comprises the finance committee.

Edward York Dies Suddenly At Home North Of Pisgah

Edward York, a resident of Morgan county for many years, passed away suddenly at his residence northwest of Pisgah at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday.

He was born in Scott county, November 7, 1891, a son of Thomas and Eliza Milton York. He was married to Carrie Steuart in December of 1923.

She survives with one niece who was raised in the York home, Mrs. Ruth Steuart Brown, of St. Louis. One half sister, Neta Goolsby, St. Louis, also survives. He was a farmer by occupation and a member of the Baptist church.

The body is at the Williamson funeral home; arrangements are pending.

Miss Joan Price, Wallace Bulpitt Wed August 25

ASHLAND — Miss Joan Price of 630 W. Edwards street in Springfield, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Price of Ashland and the late Mr. Price, became the bride of Wallace E. Bulpitt, son of Lorne Bulpitt of Springfield and Mrs. Clelia Bulpitt of Taylorville, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 25, in the First Presbyterian church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Paul Graebel.

The bride chose a gown of sheer organza over bridal satin. The closely fitted bodice was designed with short sleeves and a scalloped neckline of applied lace encrusted with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt featured floating panels of organza and applied lace, glistening with sequins and seed pearls that fell from the tiny waist into a chapel train. The fingertip veil of imported illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of Chantilly lace edged with seed pearls and sequins. Her bridal bouquet was of red roses centered with a white orchid.

Miss Evelyn Farmer attended the bride as maid of honor. Miss Mary Price, sister of the bride, and Miss Betty Bulpitt, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Robert Byron Bendley of New York City, nephew of the bridegroom, was best man, and the groomsmen was Robert Carter.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at Scott House, 403 W. Edwards St., Springfield.

After a wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla., and Jamaica, the couple will reside at 719 E. Edwards street.

The bride is a graduate of the Ashland High school.

BLIND EVANGELIST CONSTRUCTS HOME

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — A blind evangelist, guided by the sound of the hammer and the feel of the boards, has started construction of a three-bedroom home.

The Rev. Milton Hulsey lost his sight in 1947 through illness. At the North Carolina Preconditioning Center for the Blind, he learned, among other things, the use of tools.

Today, Hulsey, while still an evangelist, operates a candy stand. But at night and on Saturdays he works on his home.

Occasionally he gets help from relatives but he feels that the job is his own project.

By the sound of the hammer, he explained, he can tell whether or not he's striking off center. He guides his sawing with a board cut square.

'SPECTATORS' REASON FOR TURNING DOWN BEACH REQUEST

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — The Marin County Board of Supervisors has eyed a request for a nudist beach on the county's shoreline and reached a decision.

Stan Scholer, past president of the American Sunbathing Assn. of May's Landing, N.J., had asked the county to set aside a secluded beach where bathing suits would be optional.

"Designation of such a beach would create a parking problem for spectators as well as a patroling problem for the sheriff," said San Anselmo supervisor William Fuchman.

And so, the board turned down the request.

SENTENCE NUNS

VIENNA — Prague radio said today a Czechoslovak court in the Moravian town of Vsetin has sentenced two Roman Catholic nuns to prison terms of 4½ and 3 years on charges of belonging to an anti-Communist underground movement.
